

General Trainer Foster Guidelines

Below are general foster guidelines and requirements that each trainer will HAVE to meet prior to picking up their respective rescue horse.

PLEASE NOTE: These are only general guidelines and each rescue will have specific foster requirements and contracts that each trainer will have to meet and be approved which could vary from the ones listed below.

- The horse you receive will be current on coggins, all vaccinations, dental and hoof trims.
- Your housing location and facility will be subject to a site visit prior to approval of receipt of horse.
- Rescue will reimburse reasonable cost of farrier, feed and hay with a maximum amount of $200/30 days. The quality of feed and hay should equal to what the horse is used to and any supplements, if needed will be also provided by rescue.
- Trainer must provide appropriate shelter, 3 sided at a minimum and free access to water at all times.
- The horse will NOT be housed in an area or pasture that has barb wire fencing.
- Trainer must allow the rescue horse a minimum of 12 hours turnout. Attention needs to be taken to minimize any other horse constant picking on the rescue horse.
- Equine will not be moved to another location from approved location without prior consent from the rescue.
- Rescue personnel can visit the horse and the trainer's facility at any time WITHOUT prior notice. And the horse can be removed at any time, without constituting trespassing if the foster contract agreement is not being followed.
- If the horse is a mare, it is not allowed to come into contact with a stud or be bred while in the care of the foster.
- If the horse requires any medical attention, the trainer will contact the rescue immediately to get prior approval for treatment; this includes any administration of Bute, Banamine or any other drug or pain relief. Any injury caused by irresponsible training techniques will be the trainer's financial responsibility.
- Trainer agrees to use only humane training methods and will not use anything that would inflict undo pain to the horse in training. Prohibited training methods also include those that are based on fear and pain.
- Trainer will NOT use any type of action device on the horse and the horse will NOT be housed at any facility that does.
- As all horses will be barefoot, trainer must discuss and get approval from rescue prior to having shoes put on the horse.

- There will be no warranty, express or implied, to the age, breed, general condition, temperament or soundness of the horse.
- Trainer will hold harmless rescue, its employees, board members, volunteers, successors and assigns from any claim, liability or cause of action arising out of or in any way related to fostering and training the horse for this Training Challenge.
